About Me

I am a software engineer with experience in .NET and Angular. I have a strong interest in backend-frontend-mobile technologies, artificial intelligence, and image processing. I am currently learning Angular, and I am eager to expand my knowledge and skills in these areas. I am a hard worker and I am always willing to go the extra mile. I am also a team player and I am always willing to help others. I am confident that I can be a valuable asset to your company, and I am eager to contribute to your success.
